The Glimer county Banner (Dem.) says in referring to the recent election: "The Knights of Labor is an organisation which at elections sells to the highest bidder. Goff's boodle captured that vote, which is very strong in the District." It also wants to know how many thousand dollars General Goff had to put up to buy the Knights of Labor, and makes a nomination as follows: "Col. Ben Wilson is the Jehovah to lead the Democracy of this Congressional District out of the wilderness of defeat."

advertisement, they beg of him to have it omitted "just for one month, to make a show of sympathy for the printers," and to pay for it all the same if he must, but not let it go in. If several business men had consented to so foolish a request, then the "committee" would go to others and say So-and-so and So-and-so have consented to take their advertisements out. But this did not work.

THE TIME IS UP.

The last day of grace extended by the "Boycott Committee" expires at noon to day. Many business houses promised to give the "Committee" an answer by that time; most of them have done so. The boycotters will not print these responses. Generally they were couched in polite terms, entirely thrown away on the committee, but they were very definite and easily understood. The committee did not have the manliness in any instance so far heard of to leave their names. Where responses were to be soot by mail THE TIME IS UP.

Where responses were to be sent by mail hey were addressed simply "Committee, they were addressed simply "Committee, K. of I. hall."
One or two of these responses inform the committee that the writers will take their advertisements out of the New-Letter, but not out of the hew-Letter, but not out of the newspapers. The initimate connection between the sheet named and the whole business of bankrupting, or altempting to bankrupt, the town is daily more apparent, though those connected with it attempt to deny it. The connection has been apparent at every turn. For instance, one party called on suggested that if an advertisement in the boycott organ would stop further annoyance, one would be placed there for that purpose. The next morning a News-Letter canvasser appeared, soliciting an advertisement. A conversation something like this ensued:

"Ah, so the committee sent you, did

"Ah, so the committee sent you, did

"No; no committee sent me," "No; no committee seat me."
"That is strange. I told a boycott committee yeaterday that I was ready to purchase immunity from persecution by advertising in their organ."
"But we are not their organ."
"Then I don't see what reason I have to advertise with you. Good day."

ANOTHER INSTANCE,

good way to knock the thing in the head would be for every business man who had an advertisement in the News-Letter and who was approached by the boycott committee, at once order his advertisement out of the boycott organ. "I am positive," said he, "that they are egging this thing on, and when the reaction aqueezes them, it will drop quick."

WORKINGMEN DOWN ON IT. WORKINGHEN DOWN ON IT.

It is a mistake to believe that the masses of workingmen approve of this ansarchistic business. Only a small gang, and a few timid or designing outsiders, have any use for the present boycott. Now that the cyster season is fairly opened, persons in search of the succulent bivaive served to a king's taste in any style, should visit the Capital Restaurant, on Markot street. This restaurant, one of Wheeling's best known institutions, was started by its present proprietor, Mr. Martin Thornton, away back in 1873. In those days an cyster staw cost 40 cents and a fry 50, and but for Mr. Thornton's agency in reducing prices they would cost that much yet. A square meal for £5 cents has been a specialty at the Capital since it opened, and a poor man is as well served as a rich one. Indeed, many a poor devil without a cout has fared samptuously at Martin's expense. It is not strange that he has not only a good patronage from all purts of tows, but from the coun'ry, far and near, as well. He has the only private dining room for ladies in town, is centrally located and corvenient for a stew or fry after the theater.
